SOCIAL COMMUNICATION ASSESSMENT AND INTERVENTION TEAMS

Diagnostic and assessment pathways for autism are well established in Manchester and educational psychologists have been a crucial addition to Manchester's multiagency diagnostic and intervention teams since 2004. These teams are referred to as SCAIT (Social Communication Assessment and Intervention teams).

SCAIT Education Psychologists become involved with children in schools via CAMHS request or by request of parents.

One Education's Education Psychology support is commissioned by Manchester City Council to provide these specialist autism services and work across Manchester City Centre in all settings. The SCAIT Education Psychologists assist in the autism assessment of some youngsters.

SCAIT Education Psychologists can also deliver the following as part of a post-diagnostic package from One Ed:

- Training offered to all parents of newly diagnosed children
- Open 'drop in' clinics for parents and professionals
- Bespoke or highly specialist training in schools where necessary
